CARTHAGE SQUARE

SHOP. DINE. DISCOVER

Visit the historic Carthage Square for shopping, dining, and the historic atmosphere. Centered in the heart of the square, the Historic Jasper County Courthouse, first established in 1841, it burnt down in 1863 during the Civil War and was rebuilt in 1894-95. It remains in use by Jasper County officials today.

Beginning in 1966 as a marching band competition, the annual Maple Leaf Festival took its name from Mother Nature's array of glorious fall colors. Every year, the city of Carthage proudly welcomes 80,000+ visitors to this wonderful fall celebration.

Every year, on the 3rd Saturday of October, the biggest day of the festival begins with the largest parade in Southwest Missouri. This keystone event begins at 9 a.m. and ends around noon. The parade starts near the Historic Square and ends at the Carthage Jr. High.

Events are scheduled throughout the day including a band festival, art & crafts vendors, car and tractor shows, wine tasting, quilt show, food vendors, and live entertainment.

The month of October is filled with activities including art and museum exhibits, lobster boil, bike tour, carnival, evening 5K, beauty pageants, dog show, gospel sing, cruise-in, and a lip-sync competition. The Maple Leaf Festival welcomes you.

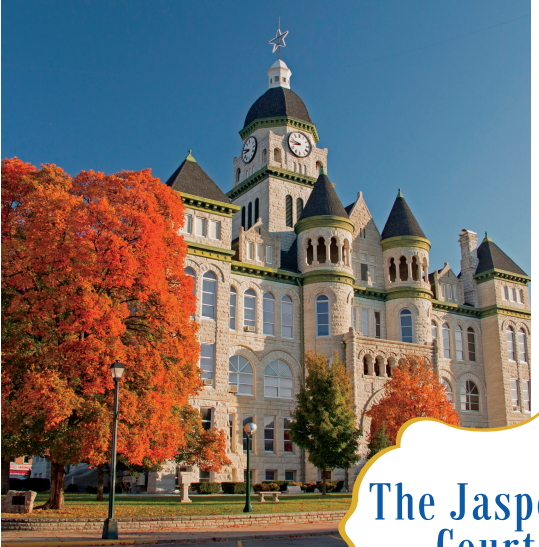

More Information on the Maple Leaf Festival, contact the Carthage Chamber of Commerce.

The Jasper County Courthouse

The Jasper County Courthouse is open to the public Monday through Friday, 8:00 am to 5:00 pm.

Built in 1894-95, inside this Romanesque Revival building, constructed of Carthage stone, you will find items such as a wrought-iron cage elevator that still operates today, a display representing the history of Route 66, military artifacts and mining specimens and a mural by Lowell Davis called "Forged in Fire." This mural portrays the history of Jasper County.

The Jasper County Courthouse is said to be the second-most-photographed building in the state of Missouri.

The Jasper County Courthouse is closed weekends, and on state and national holiday.

Boots Court Motel

One of the first concrete-paved portions of Missouri's highway system was the stretch of road west of Carthage to Joplin. It was laid in 1920, becoming part of Route 66. Along Route 66 through Carthage, you will find Kellogg Lake, Carthage Municipal Park, 66 Drive-In and the 1939 Boots Motel.

Just a few blocks from the Historic Town Square is the famous Boots Motel. This classic example of Streamline Modern Architecture is one of the last left standing along Route 66. Established by Arthur Boots in 1939, the motel is still open today with a radio in every room.

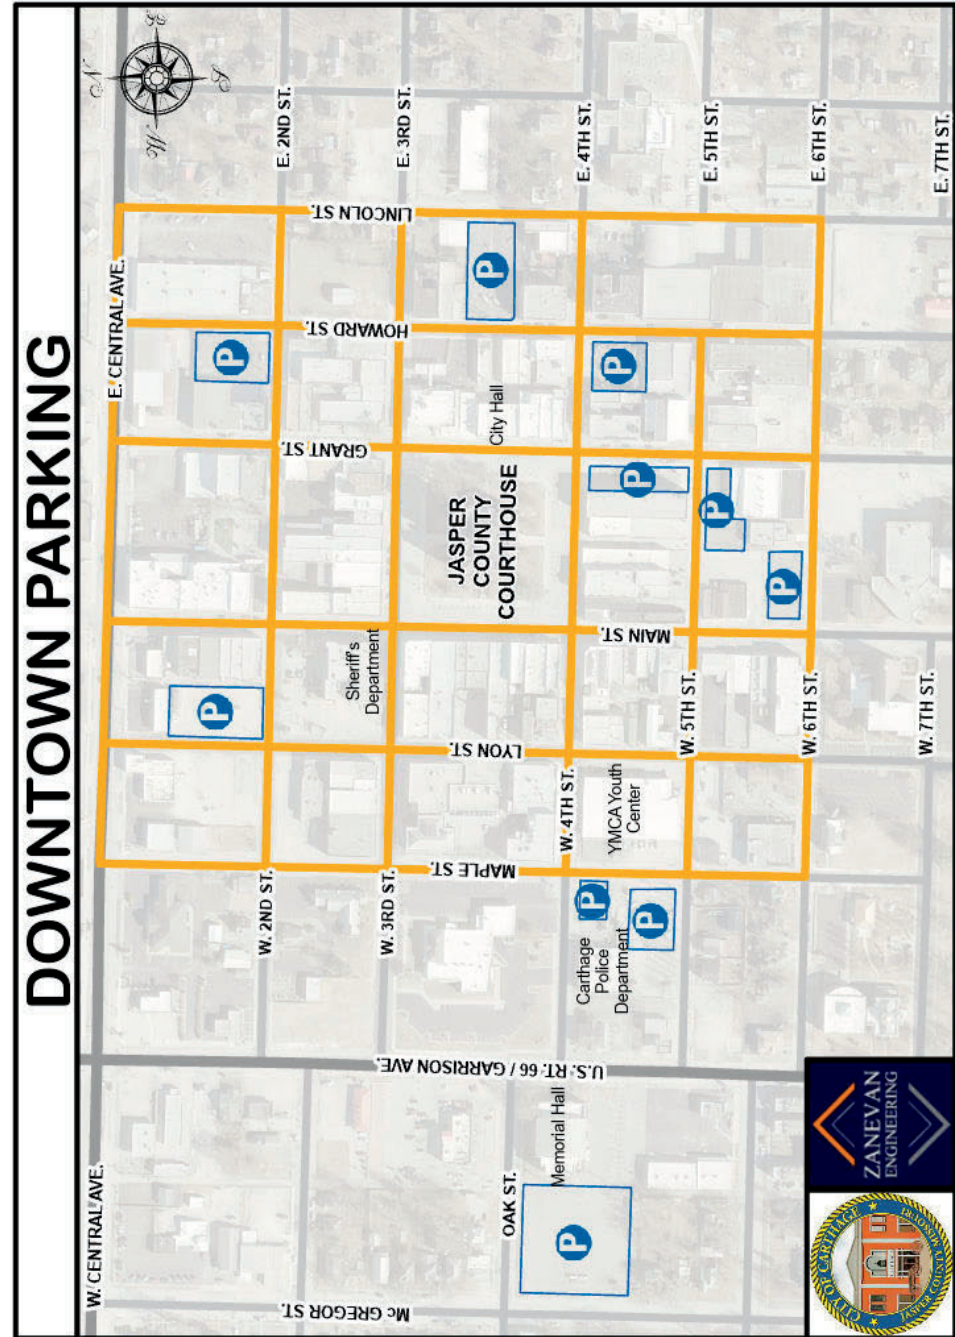

Home to one of the few surviving drive-in theaters left in America, 66 Drive-In is still in operation today along the old highway. The Theatre's season runs from April through October, with double features shown every weekend.

Battle of Carthage

On July 4th, 1856 led by Colonel Franz Sigel, approximately 1,000 Union troops and his German-American volunteers marched into Carthage. They camped in the vicinity of what is now the intersection of River and East Chestnut streets. At the same time, over 6,000 Missouri State Guardsmen led by a pro-southern leader, Governor Claiborne Fox Jackson were camped 18 miles north of Carthage. On the morning of July 5th, Jackson led his forces south as Sigel and his men advanced north. They met about 9 miles north of Carthage and a battle resulted, lasting through the day. This battle continued into Carthage and ended at Carter's Spring.

The Battle of Carthage may have been the first engagement in the Civil War where two opposing armies came from hundreds of miles marching had contact with each other using traditional battle formations. When the Battle of Carthage was over, the Southern forces under Missouri Governor Claiborne Fox Jackson's command, had won an important victory. Colonel Franz Sigel, the Union commander, would receive national attention from the Battle of Carthage and became a hero to the German-American Unionists in the country.

Red Oak II

A Town from Yesterday

Just a couple miles northeast of Carthage, and just off of Route 66 you will discover Red Oak II! Created by artist, Lowell Davis, this town looks like a ghost town from years past, but it is actually the complete opposite.

What is Red Oak II?

Red Oak II was the brainchild of internationally known artist, Lowell Davis. Davis was born and raised in a town 20 miles north of Carthage, Missouri known as Red Oak, Missouri. After becoming an adult, Davis left Red Oak. After a number of years, Davis returned to his hometown to find that Red Oak had become a ghost town. After discovering this, he bought buildings from Red Oak and moved them to his family's land near Carthage and gave them new life. He called this creation, Red Oak II. Wandering through Red Oak II you will find a collection of early 20th century buildings like a general store, a Phillips 66 station, an old school house and even an old cemetery.

Today, each of the buildings in Red Oak II are privately owned. Davis lived in the Belle Starr house, where the infamous lady outlaw lived. Davis passed away at his home in November of 2020 at the age of 83.

Red Oak II welcomes visitors from all over the world. When visiting Red Oak II, please stay on the gravel road and be mindful that this is a private community.
